ANNUAL SUPPORT FUND

Husband and wife team head campaign for $125,000

Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus O. Caulton '29 have been appointed co-chairmen of the 1970-71 Annual Support Fund, it was announced recently by Mrs. Lewis D. Wetzel, president of the Alumni Council. In announcing the selection of the chairmen, Mrs. Wetzel referred to the Caultons as "Mr. and Mrs. Juniata," for there are few who are more deserving of this title than these two Juniataans. Their loyalty and obvious devotion to the best interests of Juniata are reflected in their many efforts and service as members of the Alumni Council, Board of Trustees, as Class Agents and various other committees designed to aid the College's program in important ways.

Mr. Caulton, an RCA executive, and Mrs. Caulton in accepting the task of leadership in the Annual Support Fund are seeking a goal of $125,000 during the academic year 1970-71, an increase of $25,000 over last year's goal. The Caultons hope to accomplish their Annual Support Fund task with an increase of 250 donors over the 2,261 who contributed to the College's effort in 1969-70.

President John N. Stauffer has described annual support as a means of meeting the immediate needs of the College, especially in the area of current operating expenses. To close the gap between current expenditures and revenue Juniata must turn to its immediate constituencies, the president explained. Support of this kind is not available in substantial amounts from major foundations and corporations.

The Fund provides resources for the support of teaching, financial assistance to students, and essential educational requirements. President Stauffer indicated that "it is necessary to ask Juniata's alumni and friends to continue to give generously in support of current needs through the Annual Support Fund and for capital projects through the Margin of Difference program. It is in this direct way that Juniata's many loyal alumni and friends can add strength to the College's educational program."

Extremely active in the life of the College, Cy Caulton, manager of planning and support services for RCA's plant in Cherry Hill, N.J., served as president of the alumni association in 1958-59 and recently completed a three-year term as alumni representative on the board of trustees.

Mrs. Caulton was elected, last year, to serve a three-year term on the Alumni Council and she is currently chairman of the alumni admissions committee which referred over 100 prospects to the admissions office in recent months.

Caulton said that he and Mrs. Caulton "were privileged to serve Juniata in the capacity as chairmen of the Annual Support Fund. As the first husband and wife team to serve as co-chairmen we hope that all gifts this year will be X (times) two."

"Our goals are greater than before," Caulton continued, "but then the challenges facing our College are likewise. Both Isabelle and I are convinced that these goals are within reach and are enthusiastic about the job to be done. We hope all alumni will join with us to make this venture for Juniata a highly successful one."

Caulton said that direct mail appeals will be the major thrust in the 1970-71 campaign. A special telephone appeal will be included in the current drive, putting to good use the talents of students, class agents and other alumni volunteers.

"We will ask small groups of alumni to sponsor telephone campaigns in their areas to give the fund drive added momentum," Caulton said.

RESTUCCIA NAMED PRESIDENT OF MCCORMICK FOODS

Juniata College has a special interest in the McCormick Foods "Wonderful World of Flavor" since Dan Restuccia '47 was named president of the Baltimore based company.

An international producer of fine spices, flavoring extracts and other food products, McCormick Foods named Dan its vice president of operations in 1968, shortly after he joined the firm. In 1969 he became McCormick's vice president and general manager and was appointed president early in 1970.

Dan went to graduate school after he received his degree at Juniata and earned a master of biochemistry at Rutgers University in New Brunswick, N.J. Since then he has been doing advanced work in bacteriology.

Before joining McCormick Foods, Dan was vice president of operations with Mrs. Giles Country Kitchen in Lynchburg, Va. and was frozen food plant manager for Pillsbury Co. in Gainesville, Ga. He also worked for Lever Brothers in Edgewater, N.J.

ROBINSON ASSUMES NEW RESPONSIBILITIES

The appointment of Thomas B. Robinson '66 to assume responsibility for the alumni affairs program at Juniata was announced recently by President Stauffer. Robinson will continue in his present position as administrative assistant to the president.

He replaces Glenn C. Zug '51, who was on the development staff as director of alumni relations. Zug is no longer employed by the College and is presently located in Harrisburg.

Robinson was commended highly by the president and by Foster G.

Ulrich, Jr., executive director of development. Dr. Stauffer said, "Mr. Robinson has been very effective as a member of the college staff and we expect that he will make an important contribution to the alumni and development programs."

His immediate tasks will be administering the affairs of more than 20 Juniata alumni clubs, organizing special events, such as Alumni Weekend, staffing the Alumni Council, the policy-making body of the Alumni Association and aiding the Annual Support Fund campaign.

Following his graduation from Juniata, Robinson earned a master's degree in higher education administration from Penn State in 1967. He is currently completing his doctoral studies at the same university.

Robinson held a number of student personnel positions at Penn State prior to his appointment as administrative assistant to President Stauffer in 1969.

He is married to the former Helen Ann Otterman of Cincinnati who attended DePauw and Penn State Universities.

GUESTS LEARN ABOUT COLLEGE

Juniata Today program answers many questions

What is Juniata College today? What is the attitude of the students? Are they different from past generations of students and what do they want from their education? Sixteen visitors, — alumni and friends — spent two days recently on campus searching for the answers to these and other questions among faculty, administrators and the students themselves. The group concluded that they had bridged the generation gap by means of informal sessions and by attendance at typical campus events.

The visitors talked informally with a cross section of students. The educational program at Juniata was explained by faculty members and administrators.

Dr. Wilfred Norris, acting dean of academic affairs, put the College's academic philosophy in historical perspective during the opening luncheon. "A student," he said, "could in the past and still can go through four years without making any major decisions about his own education. But things are changing. . . .

"Educational institutions must recognize the earlier maturation of college students," the Dean said, "and the new Task Force proposals take this into account by allowing for greater flexibility in the academic program.

"One of the most innovative aspects of the Task Force proposals is the opportunity for students to choose their areas of concentration in the freshman year," Dean Norris explained.

Sessions were held with the dean of student affairs, Dr. Charles W. Schoenherr; director of admissions Richard E. Kimmey; and director of financial aid and placement Ronald L. Shunk.

Kimmey said that Juniata was reaching out geographically for a broader constituency. "In 1965," he stated, "more than 75 percent of our students came from Pennsylvania, but this year, by comparison, only 68 percent are from within the state."

The admissions director emphasized that Juniata is traditionally non-discriminatory in its admissions policy. He referred to the by-laws of the College which declare that there shall be no discrimination because of religion, race, creed or color.

Discussions were held with the coaches headed by Athletic Director Walt Nadzak. This meeting took place around a breakfast table the day of the final football game of the season.

For many participants the concluding session with a group of students was the most interesting and rewarding. An alumnus asked the undergraduates what they valued most about their education? A junior answered that it was the opportunity to talk with people who disagreed with him and challenged his ideas. This experience is stimulating and truly educational, he said.

Participants in the weekend program included: Mr. William F. Berrier '60, Dr. Telford B. Blough '27, Mr. Cyrus Caulton '29, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley L. Davis, Mr. James C. Gibbel '60, Mr. Barry J. Halbritter '65, Dr. Joseph W. Howe '28, The Rev. and Mrs. Joseph Mason, The Hon. Joseph H. Neff, The Rev. and Mrs. Donald Robinson '51 and Mr. and Mrs. William E. Swigart, Jr. '37.

DEATH TAKES TWO DISTINGUISHED TRUSTEES

DR. JOSEPH V. KLINE

Dr. Joseph V. Kline, a former chairman of the Juniata College board of trustees, died in Richmond, Va., on December 6, after a lingering illness. He was 77.

Dr. Kline was a native of Sandyville, Ohio but resided in Huntingdon, Pa., from 1906 to 1917. He graduated from Huntingdon High School and received his A.B. degree from Juniata in 1913. He was the first alumnus to receive a degree from the Harvard law school.

Following several years as a country school teacher and principal in Bedford County, Pa., Dr. Kline became a member of the distinguished New York law firm of Mudge, Rose, Guthrie and Alexander with which President Nixon was associated. It was Dr. Kline who, as a senior partner in the firm, sponsored Mr. Nixon's admission to the New York Bar Association.

Dr. Kline was dedicated to the growth of Juniata and gave freely of his services in the preparation of legal briefs for government loans. He was a trustee of the College for 28 years and served as president of the alumni association.

In 1961 Juniata awarded Dr. Kline an honorary doctor of laws degree for his "enlightened abilities and concerns over a wide range of professional and humanitarian interests." He retired from his legal career in March, 1969.

In appreciation of his services, Juniata named Kline Hall in the new East Houses complex for him.

He is survived by his wife, the former Helen E. Hanneberry, a daughter, Mrs. James K. Kingsolver, and two grandchildren.

WILLIAM R. FLORY

William R. Flory, a member of the Juniata board of trustees and a prominent hotel executive, died on December 10 in Harrisburg at the age of 73.

Known for his dedication to athletics, Mr. Flory helped to organize the first Juniata football team and played catcher on the varsity baseball team.

Born in Rockingham County, Va., he graduated from Juniata in 1921. While still a young man he became president of Grenoble Hotels, Inc., a chain of 23 eastern seaboard hotels. In 1943 he headed the Chambersburg Hotel Corporation and also became president and a director of the Virginia Operating Company of Portsmouth, Va. and the Tennessee Hotels, Inc. of Cleveland, Ohio.

During his active business life he headed many other hotel corporations and was active in industry organizations.

Mr. Flory became a trustee of the College in 1946 and served as vice chairman of the board for a number of years. He retired from active participation in 1969. In appreciation of his services to Juniata, Flory Hall in the new East Houses complex, was named for him last year.

President Stauffer said "we all revered him and we shall continue to do so because of his unfailing and helpful concern for the best interests of the College."

He is survived by his sister Mrs. Ollie Carpenter of Camp Hill, Pa. and a niece, Mrs. Richard Johnson '52 of Harrisburg, Pa.

INDIANS LOOK GOOD

Cage Tribe attains "balance" with Smith among top N.C.A.A. scorers

The idea of a "balanced" offense and defense that basketball coach Jack Swinderman brought to Juniata last fall is already producing results for the Indians. The first five games of the season gave the Tribe a 3-2 record, and placed them second in scoring in the Middle Atlantic Conference for December.

The Tribe lost its season opener at Indiana University of Pennsylvania, 95-80, on Dec. 2. The following weekend in Lancaster, Pa., the Indians participated as defending champions in the second annual S. Woodrow Spangler Holiday Basketball Tournament and defeated Gettysburg College 84-75 the first night. The next evening, off-night shooting from the field at only 38 percent caused the Indians' downfall to Lebanon Valley, 91-70, and loss of the tournament crown.

On the home court for the first time Dec. 9, Juniata rolled over the Panthers of Federal City (D.C.) College, 104-81, and then made it a perfect week three nights later with an 89-75 victory over Delaware Valley College in the first M.A.C. game of the season.

Senior co-captain John Smith, Juniata's first basketball candidate for NCAA Small College All-American, led the Indians in scoring for both home games with 32 points apiece. The sharpshooter from Lebanon, Pa. is averaging better than 27 points per game, and registers a steady 62 percent in shooting both from the field and the foul line.

Teammates Jim McCarthy, Tom Rinaldi, and co-captain Charlie Harvey are also hitting double-figure scores per game. Harvey leads the team in rebounds, averaging better than ten per game. McCarthy and Harvey are both seniors from Harrisburg, while Rinaldi, a 6'6" sophomore, is from Cranford, N.J.

Coach Swinderman expressed pleasure at the pressure defensive play from the outside by guards Jim McCarthy and Leroy Wentz in the early games. He also noted outstanding performance by forward Ron Straley of Mercersburg and guard Tom Griffin of Meadville, both juniors, and of sophomore forward Paul Valasek of Natrona Heights.

A quick break and a hard drive past 6-foot-5 Roger Truehart put John Smith in good layup position for one of 12 field shots he sank out of 19 attempts December 9 against Federal City College. The Indians won the game 104-81, and Smith led in scoring with 32 points. The senior co-captain was ranked 18th in scoring among small college basketball players by the N.C.A.A. for the month of December. Smith was named to the N.C.A.A. Small College Academic All-American team last year, and is a candidate for Small College All-American this season.

The coach viewed the remainder of the season with cautious optimism. Crucial January contests against M.A.C. opponents Susquehanna (lost, 81-60), Ursinus, Elizabethtown, Scranton and Wilkes as of this writing may indicate Juniata's chances for a third consecutive bid for the Conference championship.

Juniata's freshman team, coached by Paul Stainbrook, is 1-1 for the season. They lost their opener to Indiana, 77-66, and squeezed past Federal City, 69-68.

Wrestlers Suffer Setbacks

Inexperience took a heavy toll on Juniata wrestlers at the outset of the 1970-71 season. The Indian matmen, coached by Bill Berrier, lost all three matches scheduled in December: Bucknell, 27-11; Delaware Valley, 25-9; and Lycoming, 35-8.

Returning lettermen this year include Jeff Massingham, 118-pound senior captain, 126-pound sophomores Jim McCartney and Terry Buckwalter, junior Dan Bryant and sophomore Jeff Rudy at 150, and senior Tom Mears at 190.

Massingham, who took fourth place in the M.A.C. championships last year, and McCartney each won two of three decisions so far this season. Along with undefeated freshman Myron Zimmerman at 134 (1-0), they claim the team's sole winning records.

The addition of juniors Dan Greening (167) and Jim Guenthoer (heavyweight) to the team next semester may help Berrier's grapplers to improve team strength to equal or better last year's 2-9-1 record.

Hoops and Skirts . . .

The Women's Lib movement may have found its vehicle at Juniata at last. The first season of women's basketball will get underway on campus Jan. 30 with an inaugural game against St. Francis College, the first of a 12-game schedule.

Coached by new physical education instructor Rosemary Dashbach, a dozen coeds will engage in cage contests with women's teams from schools including nearby Grier, Penn Hall, Lock Haven, Bucknell and Huntingdon High.

The new sport is sponsored by Juniata's Student Government.
